THE PRESIDENT AT SACRAMENTO

A Patriotic Speech in the Capital Park.

Pelted With Roses On Leaving For Benicia.

At California's Capital.

SACRAMENTO, May 2.—President Harrison and party were met at Davisville early this morning by Col. J. B. Wright, City Trustee McLaughlin, M. R. Higgins of the Governor's office, Postmaster Coleman and R. R. Harmon and escorted to the city. As the train drew into the beautifully decorated Union depot in Sacramento, a salute of twenty-one guns was fired, and as the President stepped from the train, an immense crowd greeted him with wild cheers. Mayor Comstock spoke a few words of welcome and the party then entered carriages and were driven to the capitol. Representatives of the Grand Army posts acted as a Guard of Honor. Thousands of people had assembled in the Capitol park and all the school children of the city were drawn up in line on either side of the broad walk leading up to the grand stand. As the President was escorted through the line by the Mayor, he was pelted with flowers by the children. Mayor Comstock introduced Governor Markham, who, after a few remarks, presented the President who spoke as follows:

"Governor Markham and fellow citizens: Our eyes have rested upon no more beautiful or impressive sight since we entered California. This fresh and delightful morning, this vast assemblage of contented and happy people, this building dedicated to uses of the civil government, and all things about us tend to inspire our hearts with pride and with gratitude—gratitude to that overruling Providence that turned hither after the discovery of this continent the steps of those who had the capacity to organize a free representative government; gratitude for that Providence that has increased the feeble colonists on an inhospitable coast to these millions of prosperous people who have found another sea and populated its sunny shores with happy and growing people (applause); gratitude to that Providence that led us through a civil strife to the glory and perfection of a unity of people that was otherwise impossible; gratitude that we have today a union of free States without a slave to stand as a reproach to that immortal declaration upon which our government rests (cheers); pride that our people have achieved so much that, triumphing over all hardships, these early pioneers who struggled in the face of discouragement and difficulties, more appalling than those that met Columbus when he turned the prow of his little vessels toward an unknown shore, perils of starvation, perils of savages and perils of sickness. Here on this sunny slope of the Pacific they have established civil institutions and set up a banner of imperishable union. (Cheers.) Every Californian who has followed in their footsteps, every man and woman who is to-day enjoying the harvest of their endeavors, should always lift his hat to a pioneer of '49 (cheers). We stand here at the political center of a great State, in this building where your lawmakers assemble, chosen by your suffrages to execute your will in framing these rules of conduct which shall control the life of the citizen. May you always find here patriotic, consecrated men to do your work; may they always assemble here with a high sense of duty toward an intelligent and honorable people; may they teach the great lesson of our government, that our people need only such regulations as shall restrain the ill-disposed and shall give the largest liberty to individual enterprise and effort (cheers). No man is gifted with speech to describe the beauty and impressiveness of this great occasion. I am awed in this presence. I bow reverently to this great assemblage of free, intelligent and enterprising American sovereigns (cheers). I am glad to have had this hasty glimpse of this early center of immigration. I am glad to stand at the place where that momentous event, the discovery of gold, transpired, and yet, after you have washed your hands of gold, after the eager rush for sudden wealth, after all this you have come into a heritage in the possession of those fields, in those enduring and inexhaustible treasures of your soil, which will perpetually sustain a great population. In parting, sir (to the Governor), to you, as the representative of this people, I give the most hearty thanks of all for your journey with me and my own, for the early and continuous kindness, yea, even affectionate attention, which has followed us in all our footsteps through California." (Cheers.)

Ex-Governor Newton Booth then delivered a short address, followed by Secretary Rusk. The non-arrival of Postmaster Wannamaker was a great disappointment to the employees in the post-office, as they had arranged to present him with beautiful silver and floral souvenirs. The President then held a short reception in the Governor's office, after which the party were escorted back to the train and left for Oakland, the battery firing another salute as the train left.

BENICIA, May 2.—The special train bearing the President and party arrived at 11:45 a. m., and the whole town was at the depot to welcome him. The public school children were drawn up in line, all armed with flags and bouquets. The President was given three hearty cheers and delivered a short address thanking the public and saying he had a remembrance of Benicia from the very early days. His elder brother, he said, was sent across the plains in 1857 with the Utah expedition, and was afterwards stationed at Benicia, from where he had received many pleasant and interesting letters from him. Master Chisholm and Miss M. Deming then presented him with a floral cannon inscribed with the words: "This for our friend, we have nothing else for our enemies. During the balance of the five minutes' stay many pressed forward to shake his hand, and as the train pulled out the party was bombarded with flowers.

The President stopped at Berkeley and Oakland before returning to San Francisco, and at Oakland he left his carriage and walked between the lines of ten thousand school children.

The mines of this camp are looking well, and the output of ore is heavy enough from the leading properties to keep the mills running throughout the season. North Commonwealth stock sold higher during the week, and was in good demand. There are some good prospects in North Belle Isle and Red Isle, some very rich ones being opened up at depth. From the Quipota mines there are good reports, and the stocks have been strong recently.

DEAR SIR: I send $5. for which please return a half dozen of your vegetable capsules. I have moved here from Sierra City, Cal. I took three bottles before leaving, hence I send all the way back to California for more. It was just before I left Sierra City, about a year ago, that I began to feel very miserable. My skin was very yellow, and I was all pains and aches, especially under my shoulders and in my head. The doctor said it was my liver, and gave me some medicine which relieved me somewhat. One of my neighbors happened in and told me she had started to take Joy's Vegetable Capsules, and advised me to try it. I did, and with much good effect that I now feel like a new being. I have persuaded one of my neighbors here to take it, so part of this is for her and part for myself.

Time for Reciprocity.

By Associated Press.

OTTAWA, May 2.—In the House yesterday Lowry, the leader of the opposition, arraigned the government for the insulting epithets which Sir John McDonald and other members of the Cabinet had showered upon the United States during the recent campaign. The result of the recent election, he held, was a practical victory for the Liberal party and their policy was unrestricted reciprocity.

Sir John said in reply that the government had every reason to congratulate themselves for the manner in which the country repudiated the Liberal party and their policy of annexation; he regretted the loss of several of his supporters, who had fallen in the battle, but the defeat was due to the McKinley bill and not to any charges that could be directly brought against the government.

Cartwright characterized the whole course of the government as one calculated to exasperate and irritate the United States against Canada, and he regretted Sir John had not seen fit to withdraw the unfriendly references he had made to that great republic in place of stating he would stand by what he had said.

The conduct of the Canadian government in 1886 had almost drawn the United States into commercial war against the Dominion as subsequently had been pointed out by Tupper. The Liberal party had repeatedly urged the adoption of some measure that could make free if possible the commercial intercourse between Canada and the United States. There is one of few things certain to occur—free trade with the United States or a practical suspension of all commercial intercourse with the republic by their attitude towards the United States. The insults they had heaped upon sixty-five million of the people of that great republic to the south by the Dominion government have aroused a spirit of hostility toward Canada in the United States whose influence President Harrison or Secretary Blaine could not ignore. Sir John MacDonald had denounced everyone who voted for the Liberal party, and unrestricted reciprocity as annexationists, and according to this theory and the result of the recent elections over one-half of the population of Canada were in favor of a political alliance with the United States. If annexation ever became the live issue in Canada it would be through the acts of the present administration who had precipitated such a state of affairs in the country. The Minister of Finance, Fester, was not in a position to define the government's position in regard to pending negotiations at Washington, but would ask the House to wait patiently until the correspondence in the case was brought down, when it would be seen that they had acted in the best interests of the country, and he would say, however, that the government considered the treaty of 1854 a fair treaty, alike to Canada and the United States.

ROME, May 2.—Two hundred persons were placed under arrest in connection with the Labor Day disorders here. A Gendarme, wounded yesterday while quelling a riot, died this morning from the effect of his injuries. Many stores are being closed as it is feared there will be more trouble to-day.

PARIS, May 2.—Further particulars of the labor riot at Fournies yesterday go to show that three people were killed outright by the fire of the soldiers and a number of others wounded, four of whom have since died. The soldiers, acting under their officers' instructions, and in order to avoid taking life, fired low, with the result that many limbs of rioters have been amputated.

A Royal Opening.

By Cable and Associated Press.

LONDON, May 2.—The naval exhibition of the Chelsea embankment opened to-day with great ceremony. The Prince of Wales presided at the opening ceremonies. He wore the uniform of an Admiral of the British Navy. The entire passageway, one-eighth of a mile long, leading to the spot from which the Prince of Wales declared the exhibition open, was lined by celebrated naval and military officers, to the rear of whom a strong force of Blue Jackets and marines presented arms as the royal party passed. The Prince and Princess of Wales were conducted to the Dais, after which the Archbishop of Canterbury came forward and uttered a prayer for the success of the exhibition, the prosperity and peace of the country and the health of the royal family. The Prince of Wales then replied to the address of the officers, after which the Princess of Wales turned a tiny switch in front of a miniature model of the Eddystone light house. There was a flash from the top of the light house and the exhibition was formally declared open.

BOSTON, May 2.—The Herald has a story this morning in connection with the Barnaby case, of a man who claims to have seen another man, closely following the description of Dr. Graves, mail a package which was marked "Denver, Colo." in the Boston post-office, March 30th. The Herald's informant was taken to Providence and shown Dr. Graves, whom the identified as the man he saw at the post-office.

It has been demonstrated that the man who said he remembered the date of the mailing of the mysterious package, by an important letter he sent that day, did not mail his letter March 30th, but April 6th, so his story of a man affixing stamps to a Denver package March 30th seems to be lacking in consistency.

BOSTON, May 2.—E. M. McPherson, Commissioner of foreign corporations, has been looking up the record of the Eastern Investment Company, and as a result ordered the concern immediately to cease doing business. Massachusetts advertisements of the concern declare it has been in business fourteen years, yet it was only chartered in the State of Maine in 1890. The authorized capital is given as $2,000,000, of which $1,300,000 is alleged to have been subscribed and it is stated that the surplus is $152,000. It is found that at the time of the incorporation, only a few hundred dollars was paid in as capital, just enough to secure a charter.

When the treasurer was asked for a statement of the company's property certain lands in Florida worth, as he alleged, $850,000, and valuable Boston real estate was scheduled. The Florida property, investigation discloses, cost about $6,000, and also that the Boston property is mortgaged at most, if not its entire value. Several stockholders of the company brought suit against the management to recover the money paid in under alleged misrepresentation, and to-day an attachment was placed on the property of the company and that of Treasurer Meyer, his wife and Benj. P. Walker.

THE GAZETTE'S constantly increasing business requires a further division of the work absolutely necessary. A. E. Wright, who has been long in the employ of Wells-Fargo, as messenger on different "runs," has been engaged, and with this issue takes partial control of the business department of the paper. In addition to his other duties, Mr. Wright will have charge of the pictorial department and will furnish illustrations of passing events as the occasion requires. He will hereafter attend to the collecting, and, in a measure, the advertising, and any contracts made with him will be duly recognized.

THUS far the President's visit to the coast has been a success. For this a considerable share of credit is due to the reception committee, which has managed the arrangements with much skill and tact. An idea is somewhat prevalent that the committee has made the President a mere attachment of the Southern Pacific. The error has arisen from two things—the fact that the company owing the lines over which the company must pass has it in a measure at its mercy, and the further fact that Mr. Harrison, in accordance with an engagement of his own, has set apart a day to attend the dedication of the Stanford University. The committee has assigned none of the time under its control either to Mr. Stanford or to the railroad.

THE Alta says that the next Congress need not worry about the defenseless condition of our coasts, because in the late Franco-German war the Germans walked past the French forts; consequently, there is no evidence that coast defenses would defend us. This, says the Bulletin, is genuine Democratic logic. It deals with forms of words regardless of sense. May we not expect, in accordance therewith, to see an Italian ironclad, on wheels, coming over the sand hills from Pescadero beach? If our Democratic friends are really as silly as they try to make themselves out it is no wonder that, as Grant said, they always manage to do the wrong thing at the right time.

SECRETARY RUSK has been looking into the irrigation matter in California and finds in the district system what he considers the way to a settlement of the water question. By this system the control of water is being transferred to the community. He says nothing about the assumption by the General Government of the work of irrigation, and his silence is significant.

TULARE made a happy hit in receiving the President. They took him amid showers of flowers over a pathway strewn with new-mown alfalfa to the stump of a sequoia gigantea, from which he made an address. If this was not the biggest stump speech, it was at any rate a speech from the biggest stump on which any President ever stood.

OUR government is now having made a number of the Whitehead torpedoes which have proved so destructive in Chilian waters, but it will be strange if we do not soon invent better ones of our own. Already several native designs have been submitted, some of which promise to be more effective than those of foreign invention.

WE seem to have failed to secure Mole St. Nicolas, Haiti, for a naval station for the present. Sooner or later its acquisition will be desirable. It is the best harbor of the island and commands the Windward Passage, the best outward route from our Atlantic ports to the Isthmus and the future inter-oceanic canal.

SAN FRANCISCO uses over $100,000 worth of stained glass annually, and gets good value for the investment, because there are few days in which the sun does not shine.

He Was Blindly Trained, but Put His Friends in a Hole at Last, says a Wellsboro correspondent of the New York Sun. The hands of the law have closed upon him, and woe sits by the hearth of Uncle Morg Binder, in the Pine creek region.

Buster is a mule—a little mouse-colored mule—that has been in the Binder family so many years that his age is forgotten. He was the autocat of the Binder premises. His chief duty was to haul Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy when they wanted to go visiting or to town to trade. That is, Buster hauled them if he hadn't used his mind to a different course. They never knew whether or not the mule was going to take them or not until they got into the wagon. Then Uncle Morg would take up the lines and say:

"Now, then, Buster! What 'ye think about it?"

If Buster pricked up his ears and started on that was as much as to say that he thought it was all right and he would take Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy wherever they were going and fetch them home slick as a greaser. But if Buster replied to Uncle Morg's inquiry by laying his ears back on his shoulders and scowling they knew that the mule thought it wasn't all right, and without another word Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy would dismount, unhitch the mule and turn him out, and go contentedly into the house to wait until some day when Buster was willing.

"Make him go agin his will!" Uncle Morg always exclaimed when asked why he didn't force the mule to go. "Why, man, sumpin' 'd happen sorer 'n 'later rot if we sh'd go away agin Buster's idee o' the matter!" Buster knows!

It was the same way with persons. Buster's opinion of an individual decided Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy. When he folded his liberal ears back and threatened a rush upon any person under his scrutiny that person could do no business with the Binder family. "Buster knows!" was always the emphatic remark of his two loyal subjects after the mule had given his opinion, and that in spite of several queer judgments the arbitrary Buster had put on record. There was the case of the man who drove up to the Binder place once when the railroad was building. He started for the house but Buster blocked the way. He not only laid back his ears and threatened the man with his front, but turned about and let his heels fly so viciously and so rapidly in the direction of the man's head that the stranger backed away and shouted to Uncle Morg, who stood on the stoop, to call his mule off.

"I've got some business with you!" shouted the man.

"No y' han't!" replied Uncle Morg. "Ye han't got no business with me, fer Buster's agin ye, 'n' Buster knows!"

The man went off in a huff, and came to find out, he was the agent of the railroad, and wanted to contract with Uncle Morg for a big lot of ties. The consequence was that other parties got the contract, which proved to be one with big money in it.

"Don't care!" said Uncle Morg. "The chances is th't if I'd ha' put the contract I'd ha' put the money in a bank, 'n' the bank 'd a busted! Buster knows!"

Then there was the new preacher in the district, Rev. Absalom Dubbs, the meekest, mildest, and most harmless of men. When Brother Dubbs went to make his first pastoral call on Sister Binder, he was bounced off the premises by Buster so quick that he never knew how he got out in the road. It saddened the hearts of Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy to know that Brother Dubbs had been weighed in Buster's balance and found so lamentably wanting. But there was no getting around it. Brother Dubbs was under suspicion, and Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy stayed home from meeting all that year. Their faith in Buster's wisdom was not shaken a bit by the fact that the dominion quit the district with a spotless record.

"The world hasn't come to an end yet!" said Uncle Morg. "Preachers is doin' some 'turb'le queer things these days 'w'en ye han't 'pectin' it. Buster knows!"

"But the oracular little mule is suffering greatly in prestige now. Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy's heretofore unwavering trust in Buster has been rudely shaken, and their calm philosophy does not serve to sustain them in their painful awakening. Two or three months ago one of the nicest-appearing young men who had ever been seen in that part of the Pine creek property stopped his horse at the Binder farm and got out of the wagon. Buster took to him on sight. He put his nose on the stranger's sleeve and walked him right up to Uncle Morg's door. Buster even seemed to want to follow the man into the house, he had taken such a fancy to him. That was all the recommendation Uncle Morg and Aunt Peggy wanted for the stranger, and he didn't dilly-dally in presenting the business he had in hand. In less than fifteen minutes he had Uncle Morg's signature to a contract to act as agent in that district for the grab-quick stump-puller and lightning chuck-hole filler. Last week the contract turned up in the shape of a cut-throat judgment for one hundred and fifty dollars, and Uncle Morg was called upon to settle. He kicked and they levied on property of his, including the oracular mule.

"If I he'd to pay the swindlin' note I will," said Uncle Morg. "Tain't the money I mind, but to think th't after we've let Buster hev the run o' the place fer twenty year 'n' better he'd turn to 'n'steer us agin a bunko game is wat's breakin' us all up."

Volapuk Threatened. The language called Volapuk, which has been so carefully cultivated by many students in various countries, is threatened with extinction. The trouble has arisen from the action of its originators in altering its forms so that it may be used as the universal literary, as well as the universal commercial tongue of the world. These changes the Volapuk academy refused to accept and the alterations are thus causing a serious split in Volapuk circles, each side ignoring the writings and proceedings of the other.

Scrofula

In Its Worst Form—"White Swelling" Cured. The remarkable effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the following case illustrates the power of this medicine over all blood diseases: "My son, 7 years old, had a white swelling come on his right leg below the knee, which contracted the muscles so that his leg was drawn up at right angles. Physicians lanced the swelling, which discharged freely, but did not help him materially. I considered him."

A Confirmed Cripple. I was about to take him to Cincinnati for an operation, expecting his leg would have to be taken off, and began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla in order to get up his strength. The medicine woke up his appetite, and soon pieces of bone were discharged from the sore. We continued with Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it seemed to be doing him so much good, and the discharge from the sore decreased, the swelling went down, the leg straightened out, and in a few months he had perfect use of his leg. He is now apparently as well as ever." JOHN L. McDERMOTT, Notary Public, Ravenswood, W. Va.

JOTTINGS.

At 2 P. M. now the clerk feels sick, at 3 he leaves the store, and at 4 o'clock on the baseball grounds he yells till his throat is sore. And goes to the Riverside Hotel for his dinner.

In Safe Hands—"I have just discovered why dead men tell no tales." "Well, why?" "They leave that to obituary liars. Select your Sunday reading from the choice periodicals on sale at C. A. Thurston's."

Caution—"Can you cook?" he asked anxiously, he is popped the question. "I don't know," she answered, "but I can try." "Not on me," he rejoined, reaching for his hat. "I'm going to Jake Becker's for a hot lunch and a schooner of Rock beer."

Its Excellent Qualities.

Commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasing to the eye, and to the taste, and by gentle action on the kidneys, liver and bowels, it cleanses the system effectually, thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Cure for Rheumatism.

G. T. Grant, of West Granville, Mass., writes of Allcock's Porous Plasters:

"For rheumatism, neuralgia, pain in the side or back, coughs, colds, bruises and any local weakness, they truly possess wonderful curative qualities. I have recommended them to my neighbors with the happiest results, and when but for Allcock's Plasters would be in a crippled condition at home. In every instance where they have been faithfully and properly applied the result has been wonderfully satisfactory."

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she really got the vital necessity of purifying the blood, to know that Hubbard's Rheumatic Syrup can be relied upon as a blood medicine. Mr. B. C. Robinson, of Marshall, Mich., says:

"GENTLEMEN—I have suffered intensely from biliousness and rheumatism for over three years and had tried so many remedies that I had lost all faith. Hearing of Hubbard's Rheumatic Syrup I bought a bottle and found it helped me. I have now used four bottles, and it has restored my liver and kidneys to healthy action, and done more to purify my blood than anything I have ever taken. I am pleased to recommend it as a wonderful blood medicine. Yours very truly,

THE COMSTOCK.

The Old Lode Again to the Front and Likely to Stay There.

The Comstock lode is looking well at several points, and so is the market on Fine street, San Francisco. The worst of it is that the public from all appearances will only appreciate the fact when prices have got to such a figure that a building lot on Pacific Heights can only be accepted as margin for a 100 share piece on some gilt-edged investment. It was always thus, however, in the history of mining speculation; the people who purchased Con-Virginia at $1.50 before the bonanza were a unit in comparison with the thousands who mortgaged their property to rake in the stock when it sold in the hundreds. The mine has been recognized as a remarkably valuable property for months past, when the price was as low as $2.50, but the inducement to purchase will not be considered sufficient until the stock brings over $20 in the market. There are all sorts of rumors afloat at present about ore discoveries in this wonderful property, and the temperaments of individuals, all the way from $30 to $300 per ton. It is enough to know, however, that the reserves in sight to-day are sufficient to run both the mills owned by the company full time for a year to come, on a grade of ore efficient to guarantee a steady run of dividends. This in itself justifies higher prices than those which rule to-day, leaving future discoveries to increase values in the course of time. The balance of the market is not so active as it might be outside of Ophir, Best & Belcher and some of the other northern stocks. The fact that the drifts are now running southerly in ore on the 1100 of Con-Cal-Virginia may open up something of value over the line accounts from the movement in Best & Belcher. Ophir has ore to mill which will clean up the present indebtedness, and Gould & Curry is again on a bullion-producing basis.

MAY DAY.

A Large Audience Attend the Exercises of the High School at the Pavilion.

An immense audience visited the Pavilion last evening to witness the May-pole dance by the scholars of the Reno High School. Professor Bray announced that the first thing on the program was the literary exercises, and introduced Misses Gertrude Kline and Belle Rulison in an instrumental duet, "Clayton's March," which was well played and warmly received. Following that was a vocal solo, "More Than Tongue Can Tell," by Miss Mabel Stanaway, which was also well given. Miss Lottie Armstrong then recited "The Crooked Stick" in a pleasing manner. "The Proposal," as sung by Miss Grace Wason, was a gem. Fred E. Walte then recited Webster's reply to Hayne on "The Necessity of Union" in a stirring manner. "Come Back, Sweet May," was charmingly sung by the class, when the May-pole march was started, led by a page in costume, Miss Belle Little as the May Queen, escorted by six maids of honor, two pages and four swainsmen, followed by twenty-eight young ladies dressed in white. The Queen was escorted to the throne and handsomely and very gracefully crowned by Joe McCormack, Jr. The winding of the pole in red, white and blue was a very pretty feature, after which the older people took the floor and enjoyed the rest of the evening. The knights were Thomas Clark, Frank Thompson, Walter Wright and Joe Johnson and their costumes were very pretty. Quite a sum was realized and all voted the evening as being pleasantly and profitably spent.

CHARLES DAVIS KILLED.

Shot by Hugh Miller in a Deadly Encounter in Long Valley.

A fatal shooting affray occurred yesterday about seventeen miles north of Reno at Ball's Mills in Long Valley, resulting in the instant death of a man named Charles Davis, from a gun shot wound inflicted during an encounter with a man named Hugh Miller.

From reports it is alleged that Miller made some improper overtures to Mrs. Davis, who lately informed her husband. Upon this, Davis sent word to Miller to keep at a distance. Yesterday Davis went from his house to Ball's mill near by, and was told that Miller was near with a gun, waiting for him. Davis at once returned to his house and taking his gun, returned to Ball's mill, and immediately, for the shooting was heard soon after. It is said that Miller fired twice and Davis once, as three shots were heard. Davis expired instantly, but it was not learned where the shot took effect. No arrest has yet been made and it is not learned whether Miller has fled or not.

An Indian Suicide.

This morning about 11 o'clock a Washoe Indian was discovered near the corner of Center and Second streets suffering the most intense agony from what was subsequently learned to have been a self-administered dose of wild parsnips. He was picked up by Officers Upson and Campbell and carried to the Justice's office, and a strong emetic prescribed, but too late to afford any relief, for he died a half hour later. The dead Indian's relatives claim that a certain white man who had interfered with the deceased domestic relations was the cause of the suicide.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT.

Changing the Method of Assessing Mortgages.

NO. XXXII.

Senate Concurrent Resolution relative to amending the Constitution of the State of Nevada.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That the Constitution of the State of Nevada be amended as follows:

Amended Article 10 of the Constitution of the State of Nevada by adding Sections 2 and 3 thereto, which shall read as follows:

Section two. A mortgage, deed of trust, contract or other obligation by which a debt is secured, shall, for the purpose of assessment and taxation, be deemed and treated as an interest in the property affected thereby. In case of debts so secured, the value of the property affected by such mortgage, deed of trust, contract or obligation, less the value of such security, shall be assessed and taxed to the owner of the property, and the value of such security shall be assessed and taxed to the owner thereof. In the county, city, town or district in which the property affected thereby, is situated. The taxes so levied shall be a lien upon the property and security, and may be paid by either party to such security. If paid by the owner of the security, the tax so levied upon the property affected thereby, shall become a part of the debt so secured; if the owner of the property shall pay the tax so levied on such security, it shall constitute a payment thereon, and to the extent of such payment a full discharge thereof.

Section three. Every contract hereafter made, by which a debtor is obligated to pay any tax or assessment on money loaned, or on any mortgage, deed of trust or other lien, shall, as to any interest specified therein, and as to such tax or assessment, be null and void.

A DEEP HOLE.

An Oil Well Sunk 4,100 Feet Near Wheeling.

One of the most important scientific explorations into the depths of the earth ever undertaken, says the Philadelphia Press, will be carried out near Wheeling, Penn., under the joint auspices of the United States Government and the city of Wheeling. Some months ago the Wheeling Development Company began drilling a well near this city in search of oil or gas. It was determined to bore as far as possible. The hole has already reached the depth of 4,100 feet, within 500 feet of the deepest well in the world. In this distance a dozen thick veins of coal have been passed, oil and gas both struck, but not in paying quantities, and great quantities of iron and other minerals found. The hole is eight inches in diameter, and the largest in diameter of any deep well in the world.

To-day Professor White, State geologist, arrived from Washington, where he had succeeded in getting the government geological survey of officers interested in the exploration and the result is that the hole will be drilled to a depth of one mile. Then the government will take up the work under the direction of two expert officers of the geological survey and drill into the earth as far as human skill can penetrate.

The idea is to take the temperature and magnetic conditions as far as possible, and by means of an instrument constructed for the purpose, a complete record of the progress and all discoveries made will be kept and will be placed in the geological survey exhibit at the World's Fair.

Lighting Bags.

The electric arc lights at the street crossings and elsewhere are surrounded at night by armies of monster black bugs that cast magnified shadows on the ground below that are as hideous as the reconstructed skeletons of a pterodactyls. They fall on the sidewalks and are crushed by passing pedestrians in such numbers that the walks resemble a slaughter pen.

Don't Throw up the Sponge!

That hideous ogre, Giant Despair, often fastens his clutches upon the chronic invalid. Constantly plagued by dyspepsia, biliousness and constipation—nervous and sleepless too—what wonder is it that having tried in vain a multitude of useless remedies he is ready, figuratively speaking, "to throw up the sponge." Let the unfortunate "take heart of grace," Hostetter's Stomach Bitters can and will put a terminous to his trials. It strengthens the stomach, cures nervous vigor by promoting assimilation to the food, arouses the liver when dormant and relaxes the bowels without pain. The ability to digest and assimilate restored, the system is renewed. Nothing then can stay the renewal of health but insurance. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, moreover, transcends all other remedies for malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints. A wineglassful three times a day.
